

What do you think about when you hear the word "mission field"?

Does a foreign country, new culture, strange foods, or another language come to mind? It takes a shift in thinking to realize a "mission field" exists right where you are. Whether in your classes at school, in the store, at work and/or with your neighbors- this is your mission field.

There are opportunities all around you. God has created us with a desire to make a difference. WMU NC wants to be the catalyst to share resources, promote events, and provide encouragement to help equip you to live in your mission field.

We want to be there for you! You can make a difference!

YOU ARE NOW ENTERING

THE MISSION FIELD

These Missions and Ministries of WMU NC are supported entirely by your gifts to the Heck-Jones® Offering and other financial gifts designated specifically to WMU NC.

WMU NC is your source for mission project ideas, spiritual growth, leadership training, leadership development and more. Some of our resources include:

- * Bible Study Library - Over 200 Bible studies in our lending library available to check out at no charge. Visit www.wmu.org/bible-studies to find a list and request a study.

Christian Men's Job Corps ®
& Christian
Women's Job Corps ®

This ministry helps men and women in need. CMJC/CWJC provides a hand up rather than a hand out, offering opportunities to learn job skills and life skills. Each individual is paired with a Christian mentor. For more information about job skills training locations, training dates, volunteer opportunities and information on how to host training sessions visit www.cwjnc.org or contact Cara Lynn Vogel at cwjnc@gmail.com or 919.589.2952.

Sisters Who Care is the Women on Mission organization for our African-American sisters. Women pray for and give to missions, learn about missions, do missions work and encourage each other to grow spiritually in a missions lifestyle. For more information contact Lisa Jacobs, the Volunteer WMU NC SWC Coordinator at ljsevent@gmail.com or visit www.wmunc.org/swc.

Mission Trips

Nothing will ignite your WMU groups more than being on mission together. The members of the WMU NC Mission Team have experience, contacts and a desire to help women and churches expand their horizon locally, nationally and abroad. For more information visit <https://www.wmunc.org/mission-trips> or contact Dorothy Barham at dbarham@embarqmail.com.

Is your church considering starting a new age-level ministry, a new WMU, or has it been at least two years since you ordered ministry materials? If so, your church will receive a discount on all publications and materials for an entire year. Subscriptions to magazines and ministry materials are provided by National WMU in partnership with WMU NC. For more information contact Amanda Martinsen at amartinsen@wmunc.org or 800.210.8602 x208.

an initiative of WMU®

Project HELP is a WMU initiative designed to help the church address current social and moral issues. The goals of Project HELP are to raise awareness of social issues and mobilize the church to meet needs and share the gospel. Since launching Project HELP in 1994, WMU has led the way in addressing social issues, including HIV/AIDS, racial injustice, and poverty. Project HELP 2018 - 2019 will focus on the global refugee crisis. For more information visit, www.wmu.com/?q=article/national-wmu/project-help.

Prayer is very important to WMU NC. Pray for missionaries listed in the Prayer Patterns section of the Missions Mosaic magazine or join our Prayer Partnership to pray for a country in Southeast Asia. To subscribe to a magazine contact the WMU national office at 800- 968-7301. For more information about a prayer partnership email Dorothy Barham at dbarham@embarqmail.com.

Prayer Partnership Opportunities

Restorative Justice Ministries

WMU NC has a long history with prison ministry. WMU NC has given red boxes filled with toiletry items and goodies for over 50 years to women who are incarcerated and to youthful offenders. For some, this might be the only gift they receive at Christmas. WMU Associational leaders are asked to select an item to donate for the red boxes and contact churches in their associations to participate. WMU hosts an annual retreat for incarcerated women and sponsors Camp Angel Tree for children of inmates. For more information or to volunteer email Margaret Harding at mharding@wmunc.org or 919-882-2234.

SHINE (myMISSION) is a unique missions approach that seeks to challenge, inspire and teach young women to be God's light in the world. The women of SHINE have one goal - missions for life - Serving God, Helping others, Inspiring believers, Networking community, Experiencing Christ! For more information contact Julie Keith at jkeith@wmunc.org.
